

BEGLA-136: English at the Workplace

Term-End Examination: December 2023 | Solved Paper

Time: 3 Hours Maximum Marks: 100 All questions are compulsory.

Solved Questions

1. Match the words in Column A with their meanings in Column B

10 marks

Answer:

Word	Correct meaning
Profile	A short description of somebody/something that gives useful information.
Receptive	Ready to listen to new ideas.
Firm	Strong and steady.
Punctual	Not late.
Foresight	The ability to see what will probably happen in future.
Philanthropy	The practice of helping the poor or those in need.
Access	A way of entering or reaching a place.
Static	Not moving or changing.
Creative	Connected with producing new things.
Extrovert	A person who prefers social interaction rather than being alone.

2. Make sentences using the following words

10 marks

Answer:

- (a) Informal: The team had an informal meeting to discuss the new project.
- (b) Acronym: NASA is a well-known acronym used for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.
- (c) Medium: Email is a common medium of communication in modern offices.
- (d) Recruitment: The company has started recruitment for several managerial posts.
- (e) Stress: Proper planning helps employees reduce stress at the workplace.

3(a). Rewrite the sentences from active voice to passive voice

5 marks

Answer:

- (i) A new chairperson was elected yesterday by them.
- (ii) He was looked after by his grandfather.
- (iii) Food is being eaten by me.
- (iv) The work had been done by them.
- (v) A book was written by John.

3(b). Fill in the blanks as indicated

10 marks

Answer:

- (i) Sometimes in the competitive world today jobs are not advertised.
- (ii) Responding to job advertisements is a skill that freshers must learn.
- (iii) This is a well-paid job.
- (iv) How do you handle criticism?
- (v) The prices will go up if it does not rain well.
- (vi) Would you mind if I used the phone?
- (vii) Applicant must include the names of two referees.
- (viii) The mother is looking after her daughter.
- (ix) She is holding a dish in her hand.
- (x) She is an honest woman.

4. Short notes

20 marks

(a) Workplace Etiquette

Workplace etiquette means the accepted rules of polite and professional behaviour in an office or organisation. It includes punctuality, respectful communication, proper dress, cooperation, cleanliness, and responsible use of office resources. A person with good etiquette greets others politely, listens without interrupting, avoids gossip and maintains discipline during meetings. Email etiquette is also important: messages should be clear, brief, polite and free from careless language. In a shared workplace, employees should respect other people's time, space and cultural background. They should not use loud language, disturb colleagues unnecessarily or misuse mobile phones. Good workplace etiquette creates a positive atmosphere and improves teamwork. It also reflects the image of the organisation. Employees who behave professionally are trusted by colleagues, customers and seniors. Therefore, workplace etiquette is not a mere formality; it is necessary for smooth working, mutual respect and professional success.

(b) Work Ethics

Work ethics refers to the moral values and professional principles that guide a person at the workplace. It includes honesty, punctuality, responsibility, discipline, sincerity and respect for others. An employee with strong work ethics completes assigned tasks on time, accepts responsibility for mistakes and does not misuse office property or confidential information. Work ethics also means treating colleagues fairly, avoiding discrimination, maintaining transparency and following organisational rules. A sincere employee does not waste time, blame others or take credit for someone else's work. Good work ethics help build trust between employees, customers and management. They also increase productivity and create a healthy work culture. Employers prefer people who are dependable, hardworking and honest. Thus, work ethics are essential not only for personal reputation but also for the long-term success of an organisation.

5. Brief Curriculum Vitae for an ideal job

10 marks

Answer:

CURRICULUM VITAE

Name: Rajesh Kumar

Address: Dumka, Jharkhand

Mobile: 9876543210

Email: rajesh@example.com

Career Objective

To work in a reputed organisation where I can use my communication, analytical and organisational skills and contribute to the growth of the institution.

Educational Qualifications

Qualification	Board/University	Year	Result
Graduation	Recognised University	2023	First Division
Intermediate	State Board	2020	First Division
Matriculation	State Board	2018	First Division

Skills

Good spoken and written English, computer knowledge, MS Office, email writing, teamwork, time management and problem-solving.

Professional Experience

Completed a short internship in office administration and assisted in preparing reports, maintaining records and communicating with clients.

Strengths

Punctual, sincere, adaptable, hardworking and willing to learn.

Declaration

I declare that the information given above is true to the best of my knowledge.

Place: Dumka

Signature: Rajesh Kumar

6. Official letter of application for the post of Researcher

10 marks

Answer:

Rajesh Kumar

Dumka, Jharkhand

Email: rajesh@example.com

Mobile: 9876543210

15 December 2023

The Director
ABC Educational Institution
Ranchi, Jharkhand

Subject: Application for the post of Researcher

Sir/Madam,

I am writing to apply for the post of Researcher advertised by your institution. I have a strong interest in academic work, data collection, reading, analysis and report writing. I believe my educational background and skills make me suitable for this position.

During my studies, I developed the habit of studying information carefully, comparing sources and presenting ideas in a clear and organised form. I am comfortable using computers, online resources, spreadsheets and word-processing software. I can prepare reports, summaries and presentations. I also possess good communication skills and can work both independently and in a team.

Your institution is known for quality educational work, and I would be grateful for an opportunity to contribute to its research activities. I am enclosing my curriculum vitae for your kind consideration. I shall be happy to attend an interview at your convenience.

Yours faithfully,

Rajesh Kumar

7. Ten interview questions for the post of Manager in a corporate firm

10 marks

Answer:

Q1. Tell us about yourself.

This question checks the candidate's background, confidence and communication skills.

Q2. Why do you want to work as a manager in our company?

This helps judge whether the candidate understands the organisation and the role.

Q3. What are your major strengths as a manager?

The answer shows leadership qualities, planning ability and people-management skills.

Q4. How do you handle pressure and deadlines?

This question tests time management and emotional stability.

Q5. Describe a situation where you solved a conflict in a team.

This reveals problem-solving ability and maturity.

Q6. How do you motivate your team members?

This checks leadership style and human relations skills.

Q7. What steps do you take before making an important decision?

This tests analytical thinking and decision-making process.

Q8. How do you deal with an underperforming employee?

This shows fairness, patience and corrective approach.

Q9. What are your salary expectations?

This checks the candidate's practical expectations and negotiation style.

Q10. Where do you see yourself in five years?

This helps assess ambition, commitment and career planning.

8. Presentation outline: Elements of a Good Communication

10 marks

Answer: Title: Elements of a Good Communication

Slide 1: Introduction

Meaning of communication and its importance in personal and professional life.

Slide 2: Clear message

The message should be simple, specific and easy to understand. Avoid vague words.

Slide 3: Correct language

Use correct grammar, suitable vocabulary and polite expressions according to the situation.

Slide 4: Active listening

Good communication is not only speaking; it also requires careful listening and understanding.

Slide 5: Feedback

Feedback confirms whether the receiver has understood the message correctly.

Slide 6: Suitable medium

Choose the right medium such as face-to-face talk, phone call, email, notice or report.

Slide 7: Non-verbal communication

Body language, eye contact, facial expression and posture should support the message.

Slide 8: Courtesy and respect

A good communicator respects the listener and avoids rude or aggressive language.

Slide 9: Conclusion

Good communication reduces misunderstanding, builds relationships and improves workplace efficiency.

Quick Revision: BEGLA-136 Writing Checklist

- Sentence making: Use the word naturally and show its meaning through context.
- Passive voice: Object + suitable form of be + past participle + by + subject.
- Short note: Definition + main points + example/use + conclusion.
- CV: Personal details, objective, education, skills, experience, strengths and declaration.
- Application letter: Sender address, date, receiver address, subject, salutation, suitability, request for interview and closing.
- Interview questions: Ask role-based questions that test confidence, skills, experience and attitude.
- Presentation outline: Title, introduction, main points in logical order and conclusion.

Solved Question Paper

BEGLA-136: English at the Workplace

Term-End Examination, December 2024

B.A. General / B.A. Honours English / B.A. Vocational Studies

Time: 3 Hours Maximum Marks: 100

Course Code	BEGLA-136
Paper	English at the Workplace
Session	December 2024
Question Pattern	All questions compulsory
Output Style	Question-wise solved answers in exam-ready English

1. Solved Questions

Question 1: Match the words in Column A with their meanings in Column B

Answer.

No.	Column A	Match	Meaning
(i)	Visionary	(j)	person who imagines the future and plans accordingly
(ii)	Philanthropic	(f)	person or organisation helping those in need
(iii)	Plethora	(a)	abundance or excess of something
(iv)	Dynamic	(h)	a person who is forceful and vigorous
(v)	Persuade	(g)	convince another person about something
(vi)	Opinionated	(i)	someone with distinct opinions and puts them across aggressively
(vii)	Overwhelming	(b)	a situation that is too dominating
(viii)	Chronological	(c)	arranged in order of time of occurrence
(ix)	Entrepreneurship	(e)	capacity to organise and manage a business venture
(x)	Consensus	(d)	general agreement

Question 2: Make sentences using the given words

Answer.

- (i) Competence: The manager appreciated her competence in handling difficult customers calmly.
- (ii) Tangible: The training programme produced tangible improvement in employee performance.
- (iii) Concise: A good official email should be concise, clear and polite.
- (iv) Innovative: The company introduced an innovative method to reduce delivery time.
- (v) Exceptional: His exceptional communication skills helped him succeed in the interview.

Question 3(i): Rewrite the sentences as directed

Answer.

- (a) Passive voice: The flag was unfurled by the President on Republic Day.
Note: In standard usage, a flag is “unfurled”, not “unfolded”.
- (b) Passive voice: The winners of the Arjun awards were announced by them yesterday.
- (c) The train will leave in an hour.
- (d) The Nile is the longest river on earth.
- (e) The elephant is the largest land animal.

Question 3(ii): Fill in the blanks as indicated

Answer.

- (a) Your job will include typing letters.

- (b) Please remove the broken chairs from this hall.
- (c) They would be disappointed if we did not accept their invitation.
- (d) I am sure your boss would understand if you explained the situation to him.
- (e) Would you mind if I used mobile phone?
- (f) The prices of vegetables will rise if we do not get enough rains.
- (g) We are looking for someone who has a proven record of excellence.
- (h) We should go through the contract carefully before signing it.
- (i) The success of the project depends on proper implementation.
- (j) The applicants queued up yesterday to buy the forms.

Question 4: Short notes on any two topics

Answer. Two short notes are answered below.

(a) Body language during an interview

Body language plays an important role in an interview because it creates the first impression before a candidate begins to speak. A candidate should enter the room confidently, greet the interviewers politely and maintain a natural smile. Sitting posture should be straight but relaxed. Eye contact should be maintained with all members of the interview panel, as it shows confidence and honesty. The candidate should avoid folding arms, shaking legs, looking down continuously or checking the phone, because these actions suggest nervousness or lack of interest. Hand movements should be controlled and natural. Listening carefully is also a part of good body language; nodding slightly shows that the candidate is attentive. A firm but polite handshake, where culturally appropriate, also creates a positive impression. Overall, good body language supports spoken answers and presents the candidate as confident, respectful and professional.

(b) Workplace etiquette in a multicultural workplace

Workplace etiquette in a multicultural workplace means behaving professionally while respecting people from different cultures, languages, religions and social backgrounds. In such a workplace, employees should avoid stereotypes and should not make jokes or comments that may hurt others. Polite communication is very important. One should listen patiently, speak clearly and avoid using offensive language. Employees should also respect different food habits, festivals, clothing styles and personal beliefs. Time management, punctuality and completing assigned duties are part of professional etiquette. In meetings, everyone should be allowed to express their views. If there is a disagreement, it should be handled calmly and respectfully. A multicultural workplace becomes successful when people cooperate with one another and appreciate diversity. Good etiquette creates trust, reduces conflict and improves teamwork.

Exam Tip: If the question says “any two”, writing more than two is not necessary. Choose the topics on which you can write clear points with examples.

Question 5: Speech on “Effective Time Management”

Answer. Good morning respected teachers and dear students.

Today I am going to speak on the topic “Effective Time Management”. Time is one of the most valuable resources in our life. Once lost, it cannot be brought back. Therefore, students must learn to use time wisely. Effective time management begins with planning. We should prepare a daily schedule and divide our time between study, rest, hobbies and exercise. Important tasks should be completed first, and we should avoid postponing work. Mobile phones, social media and unnecessary conversations often waste a lot of time, so we must use them carefully.

Another useful habit is setting small and realistic goals. When we complete small tasks on time, we feel confident and motivated. Time management does not mean working all the time; it means using time in a balanced way. If we manage time properly, we can reduce stress, improve performance and achieve success.

Thank you.

Question 6: Official letter of application for the post of Customer Service Manager

Answer.

Rajesh Kumar
Dumka, Jharkhand
6 July 2026

The Human Resource Manager
ABC Services Pvt. Ltd.
Ranchi, Jharkhand

Subject: Application for the post of Customer Service Manager

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to apply for the post of Customer Service Manager advertised by your reputed organisation. I believe that my communication skills, problem-solving ability and experience in dealing with people make me suitable for this position.

I have experience in handling customer queries, resolving complaints and maintaining professional relationships with clients. I can communicate clearly in English and Hindi, both in writing and speaking. I am also comfortable using email, office software and online customer-support systems. My strengths include patience, teamwork, leadership, time management and the ability to remain calm in difficult situations.

As a Customer Service Manager, I will ensure that customers receive quick, polite and effective support. I will also guide the customer service team, maintain records of complaints and suggest improvements in service quality. I am confident that I can contribute positively to your organisation.

I request you to kindly consider my application. I shall be grateful if I am given an opportunity to attend an interview.

Yours faithfully,

Rajesh Kumar

Question 7: Six expected interview questions and planned answers for the post of Analyst

Answer.

Q1. Tell us about yourself.

I am a disciplined and analytical person with interest in data, problem-solving and business processes. I can work with numbers, prepare reports and communicate findings clearly.

Q2. Why do you want to work as an Analyst?

I want to work as an Analyst because the role allows me to study information, identify patterns and help an organisation take better decisions.

Q3. What skills make you suitable for this post?

My key skills are logical thinking, attention to detail, clear communication, spreadsheet knowledge, report writing and the ability to learn new software quickly.

Q4. How do you handle pressure and deadlines?

I handle pressure by prioritising tasks, breaking large work into smaller steps and completing the most urgent work first. I also keep communication clear with my team.

Q5. How would you explain a complex report to a non-technical person?

I would avoid unnecessary technical terms and explain the main findings in simple language with examples, charts or short summaries.

Q6. Why should we hire you?

You should hire me because I am sincere, hardworking and willing to learn. I can analyse information carefully and present useful conclusions in a professional manner.

Question 8: Presentation outline on “Skills essential for an effective team leader”

Answer. Title: Skills Essential for an Effective Team Leader

Purpose: To explain the major professional and interpersonal skills required for successful team leadership.

Slide-wise Outline

Slide	Content
1	Introduction: Meaning of team leadership and importance of a good team leader in workplace success.
2	Communication Skills: A leader must give clear instructions, listen carefully and maintain transparent communication.
3	Decision-Making Skills: A leader should analyse situations and take timely, fair and practical decisions.
4	Motivational Skills: A good leader encourages team members and recognises their efforts.
5	Conflict Management: A leader should resolve disagreements calmly and create a positive work environment.
6	Time Management: Work should be planned, deadlines should be fixed and progress should be monitored.
7	Delegation: Duties should be assigned according to the skills and strengths of team members.
8	Conclusion: An effective team leader combines communication, planning, empathy, discipline and responsibility.

Closing Statement: A successful team leader does not merely give orders; he or she guides, supports and inspires the team to achieve common goals.

2. Final Revision Page: BEGLA-136 Workplace English Toolkit

1. Common Grammar Rules

- Passive voice: Object + helping verb + past participle + by + subject. Example: “They announced the result” becomes “The result was announced by them.”
- Articles: Use an before vowel sounds, a before consonant sounds and the for specific or unique things.
- Gerund: Verb + ing used as a noun. Example: “Typing letters is part of the job.”
- Participle: Verb form used as adjective. Example: “broken chairs”, “written report”.
- Relative pronoun: Use who for people, which for things and whom for object position in formal English.

2. Short Note Format

1. Define the topic in one sentence.
2. Explain 4-5 important points.
3. Add workplace examples.
4. End with importance or conclusion.

3. Speech Format

- Greeting: “Good morning respected teachers and dear students.”
- Topic introduction: “Today I am going to speak on...”
- Body: 2 short paragraphs with examples.
- Conclusion: positive closing and “Thank you.”

4. Official Letter Format

1. Sender’s address and date.
2. Receiver’s designation and address.
3. Subject line.
4. Formal salutation.
5. Body: purpose, suitability, request.
6. Formal closing and signature.

5. Presentation Outline Format

Use slide-wise headings. Include introduction, 5-6 main points and conclusion. Keep each slide short and focused.

Solved Question Paper

BEGLA-136: English at the Workplace

Term-End Examination, December 2025

B.A. General

Time: 3 Hours Maximum Marks: 100

Course Code	BEGLA-136
Paper	English at the Workplace
Session	December 2025
Question Pattern	Section A: attempt any two; Section B: attempt any four
Output Style	Question-wise solved answers in exam-ready English

1. Solved Questions

Section A

Question A1: Use the following words in sentences of your own

Answer.

- (a) Internet: The internet has made workplace communication faster and easier.
- (b) Multinational: She wants to work in a multinational company after completing her degree.
- (c) Advertisement: I read the advertisement for the post of marketing assistant in yesterday's newspaper.
- (d) Receptive: A good manager should be receptive to new ideas from employees.
- (e) Strategy: The sales team prepared a new strategy to attract more customers.

Question A2: Application for the position of an advertising professional

Answer.

Rajesh Kumar
Dumka, Jharkhand
6 July 2026

The Human Resource Manager
Bright Media Advertising Agency
Ranchi, Jharkhand

Subject: Application for the post of Advertising Professional

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to apply for the position of Advertising Professional in your reputed advertising agency. I came to know about this vacancy through your recent advertisement. I believe that my communication skills, creativity and interest in media make me suitable for this post.

I have a good command of English and Hindi and can prepare clear messages for different audiences. I am interested in writing promotional content, preparing campaign ideas and understanding customer behaviour. I can work with a team, accept feedback positively and complete assigned tasks on time. I am also familiar with basic computer applications, email communication and social media platforms, which are useful in modern advertising work.

I am a sincere and hardworking person. I believe that successful advertising requires imagination, planning, persuasion and professional discipline. If selected, I will contribute fresh ideas and support the agency in creating effective campaigns for clients.

I request you to kindly consider my application. I shall be grateful if I am given an opportunity to appear for an interview.

Yours faithfully,

Rajesh Kumar

Question A3: How body language can be used effectively during interviews

Answer. Body language is an important part of communication during interviews. It helps the interviewer form an impression about the candidate's confidence, attitude and professionalism. Effective body language begins before the candidate answers any question. The candidate should enter the room calmly, greet the interviewers politely and sit only when asked or after permission.

A straight but relaxed posture shows confidence. The candidate should avoid slouching, folding arms, shaking legs or looking restless. Proper eye contact is also necessary. It should be natural and respectful, not aggressive. While answering, the candidate should look at the interviewer and also include other members of the panel if more than one person is present.

Facial expressions should be pleasant and attentive. A light smile creates a positive impression. Hand gestures may be used, but they should be controlled and natural. The candidate should listen carefully, nod when appropriate and avoid interrupting the interviewer. A firm and polite handshake may be used where it is culturally suitable.

Thus, good body language supports spoken answers. It shows confidence, discipline, honesty and readiness for professional responsibility.

Question A4: Short notes

Answer.

(a) Gender perceptions

Gender perceptions refer to the beliefs and assumptions people hold about men, women and other gender identities. In the workplace, such perceptions may affect how employees are judged, treated and given opportunities. For example, some people may wrongly assume that leadership roles are better suited for men or that caring and support roles are more suitable for women. These assumptions are unfair because ability depends on skill, training, confidence and experience, not gender.

Gender perceptions can influence recruitment, promotion, salary, teamwork and communication. A professional workplace should avoid gender stereotypes and judge employees on merit. Equal opportunity, respectful language, fair policies and awareness programmes can reduce gender bias. Employees should also be careful not to make jokes or comments that may hurt the dignity of any gender. A workplace that respects gender equality becomes more productive, inclusive and ethical.

(b) Cultural awareness at the workplace

Cultural awareness at the workplace means understanding and respecting the different cultures, languages, customs, beliefs and values of colleagues and clients. In modern workplaces, people often come from different regions, religions and social backgrounds. Without cultural awareness, misunderstandings may arise in communication, teamwork or decision-making.

A culturally aware employee listens carefully, avoids stereotypes and respects different festivals, food habits, dress styles and ways of communication. Such an employee does not make insulting comments about another person's background. Cultural awareness also helps in dealing with clients from different regions or countries. It improves teamwork because employees feel respected and included. Organisations can promote cultural awareness through training, inclusive policies and open communication. In short, cultural awareness creates harmony, reduces conflict and strengthens professionalism in the workplace.

Section B

Question B1: Profile of a person in your college/workplace

Answer. Profile of Dr. Anil Kumar, Assistant Professor

Dr. Anil Kumar is one of the most respected teachers in our college. He works as an Assistant Professor in the Department of English. He is known for his discipline, simplicity and dedication towards students. He completed his postgraduate studies in English literature and later obtained a doctoral degree in the field of Indian English writing. His academic background and teaching experience make him a valuable member of the institution.

Dr. Kumar usually reaches college before time and prepares carefully for his classes. His teaching style is clear and student-friendly. He explains difficult topics in simple language and connects literary texts with real-life situations. Students feel comfortable asking questions in his class because he listens patiently and never discourages them. He believes that learning English is not only about passing examinations but also about improving communication, confidence and personality.

Apart from teaching, Dr. Kumar actively participates in departmental activities. He helps in organising seminars, literary competitions, debates and cultural programmes. He also guides students in writing applications, preparing speeches and improving their presentation skills. Many students approach him for academic and career guidance.

His most admirable quality is his professionalism. He treats students and colleagues with respect. He does not use harsh language and always tries to solve problems through discussion. He is also punctual in checking assignments and giving feedback. His feedback is practical and helps students improve their writing.

Dr. Kumar is interested in reading, public speaking and social service. He often encourages students to read newspapers and develop awareness about society. In meetings, he expresses his views politely and supports teamwork. His balanced personality makes him a good teacher and a responsible colleague.

In my opinion, Dr. Anil Kumar represents the qualities of an ideal workplace professional. He is knowledgeable, punctual, helpful and humble. His conduct shows that success at the workplace depends not only on qualifications but also on discipline, communication and respect for others.

Question B2: Creative Job Hunting

Answer. Creative job hunting means searching for employment opportunities in an active, planned and innovative manner instead of depending only on traditional methods. Traditional job hunting usually means reading newspaper advertisements or waiting for vacancies to be announced. Creative job hunting goes beyond this. It requires the job seeker to identify opportunities, build contacts, present skills effectively and approach employers with confidence.

One method of creative job hunting is networking. A candidate may speak to teachers, seniors, former colleagues, family contacts and professionals who can provide information about openings. Professional platforms and career fairs are also useful. Another method is preparing a strong online profile. For example, a candidate may create a LinkedIn profile showing qualifications, projects, internships and achievements.

Creative job hunting also includes direct approach. A job seeker may study a company, identify how his or her skills can help the organisation and send a well-written email with a CV even before a vacancy is advertised. This shows initiative. For example, a student skilled in social media may approach a local business and offer to manage its online promotion.

Internships, volunteering and freelance work are also useful examples. They help a candidate gain experience and build a portfolio. A person interested in content writing may write blog posts, prepare sample articles and share them with employers. A person interested in design may prepare sample posters or campaign ideas.

Thus, creative job hunting is a proactive process. It requires research, communication, self-confidence and continuous learning. It helps candidates discover hidden opportunities and present themselves more effectively in a competitive job market.

Question B3: Curriculum Vitae for a job application

Answer.

Curriculum Vitae

Name: Rajesh Kumar

Address: Dumka, Jharkhand

Mobile: +91-XXXXXXXXXX

Email: rajesh@example.com

Career Objective

To obtain a responsible position in a reputed organisation where I can use my communication skills, computer knowledge and professional attitude for organisational growth and personal development.

Educational Qualifications

Qualification	Institution/Board	Year	Result
Graduation	ABC College	2025	First Division
Senior Secondary	XYZ School	2022	First Division
Secondary	XYZ School	2020	First Division

Professional Qualifications

- Certificate course in computer applications.
- Basic knowledge of MS Word, MS Excel and PowerPoint.
- Training in email writing and workplace communication.

Skills

- Good written and spoken communication.
- Teamwork and time management.
- Problem-solving and customer handling.
- Basic data entry and report preparation.

Work Experience

Intern, Customer Support Desk, ABC Services, Ranchi. Assisted customers, maintained records and helped prepare daily reports.

Achievements

- Participated in college debate competition.
- Volunteered in a student help-desk programme.

Personal Details

Date of Birth	11 April 1995
Languages Known	English and Hindi
Nationality	Indian

Declaration

I hereby declare that the information given above is true to the best of my knowledge.

Rajesh Kumar

Question B4: Ten interview questions and answers for Assistant Manager in an HR firm

Answer.

Q1. Tell us about yourself.

I am a sincere and organised person with interest in human resource management, communication and employee relations. I enjoy working with people and solving workplace issues professionally.

Q2. Why do you want to work in HR?

HR connects employees with organisational goals. I want to work in HR because it involves recruitment, training, communication, conflict resolution and employee development.

Q3. Why are you suitable for the post of Assistant Manager?

I have good communication skills, patience, leadership ability and a responsible attitude. I can coordinate with teams, maintain records and handle tasks within deadlines.

Q4. How will you handle a conflict between two employees?

I will listen to both sides calmly, understand the facts, avoid personal bias and try to find a fair solution according to company policy.

Q5. What is your understanding of teamwork?

Teamwork means working together with shared responsibility and mutual respect. It requires cooperation, clear communication and trust.

Q6. How do you manage pressure?

I manage pressure by prioritising tasks, preparing a schedule and completing urgent work first. I also communicate clearly if support is needed.

Q7. What qualities should an HR professional have?

An HR professional should be fair, confidential, polite, organised and good at listening. He or she should understand both employees and management.

Q8. How will you maintain confidentiality?

I will keep employee records and sensitive discussions private and share information only with authorised persons.

Q9. What are your strengths?

My strengths are discipline, clear communication, patience, willingness to learn and ability to work with different kinds of people.

Q10. Where do you see yourself in five years?

I see myself as a skilled HR professional handling greater responsibilities and contributing positively to employee growth and organisational success.

Question B5: Speech on the importance of discipline in life

Answer. Good morning everyone.

Today I am going to speak on the topic “Importance of Discipline in Life”. Discipline means following rules, respecting time and controlling our actions in a positive way. It is one of the most important qualities required for success.

Discipline helps us use our time properly. A disciplined student studies regularly, completes work on time and avoids unnecessary distractions. A disciplined employee reaches the workplace on time, respects colleagues and performs duties responsibly. Without discipline, even a talented person may fail because talent needs regular effort and direction.

Discipline also builds character. It teaches patience, honesty and self-control. In society, discipline helps people live peacefully. Traffic rules, school rules and workplace rules are all meant to create order and safety. Discipline does not reduce freedom; rather, it helps us use our freedom wisely.

Young people must develop discipline in small daily habits such as waking up on time, keeping promises, respecting elders and completing tasks honestly. These habits create confidence and prepare us for greater responsibilities.

In conclusion, discipline is the foundation of success, peace and personal growth. If we are disciplined, we can achieve our goals and become responsible citizens.

Thank you.

Question B6: Do's and don'ts while writing business e-mails

Answer. Business e-mails are an important form of workplace communication. They should be clear, polite, concise and professional. A badly written e-mail can create confusion, delay work or damage professional relationships.

Do's

- Use a clear subject line: The subject should tell the purpose of the e-mail. Example: "Request for Meeting on 12 July".
- Begin politely: Use greetings such as "Dear Sir/Madam" or "Dear Mr. Sharma".
- Write clearly and briefly: Keep sentences short and mention the main point early.
- Use professional language: Words should be respectful and formal.
- Check grammar and spelling: Proofread before sending.
- End properly: Use closings like "Regards" or "Yours sincerely".

Don'ts

- Do not use vague subjects: Avoid subjects like "Hi" or "Important".
- Do not write in anger: Emotional language can create conflict.
- Do not use slang or SMS language: Avoid words like "u", "plz" and "thnx".
- Do not attach files without mentioning them: Always write, "Please find attached...".
- Do not send without checking recipients: Wrong recipients may create privacy problems.

Example: Instead of writing "Send report fast", write "Kindly send the report by 5 p.m. today so that we can complete the review." This is clear and polite.

Question B7: Purpose of discussions in recruitment and skills needed

Answer. Discussions are used in the recruitment process to assess a candidate's communication skills, knowledge, confidence, teamwork and attitude. A written test may show what a candidate knows, but a discussion shows how the candidate thinks, listens and interacts with others. In many organisations, group discussions are used before interviews to identify candidates who can express ideas clearly and work with a team.

The purpose of a discussion is not only to speak more than others. It is to present relevant points, support them with examples and respect the views of other participants. Recruiters observe whether the candidate can understand the topic, organise thoughts and contribute meaningfully. They also notice body language, patience and leadership qualities.

Important skills needed in a discussion include clear communication, listening ability, logical thinking and confidence. A candidate should speak in a calm voice and avoid interrupting others. Good language, correct pronunciation and relevant examples improve performance. Leadership skills are also important, but leadership does not mean dominating the discussion. A good participant encourages others and helps the group remain focused.

The right attitudes are equally necessary. A candidate should be respectful, open-minded and cooperative. Aggressive behaviour, personal attacks and irrelevant arguments create a negative impression. If someone disagrees, the disagreement should be expressed politely. For example, one may say, “I respect your point, but I would like to add another view.”

Thus, discussions help recruiters judge whether a candidate is suitable for a professional workplace. They reveal communication ability, maturity, teamwork and problem-solving attitude.

BEGLA-136: English at the Workplace

Term-End Examination, June 2024 – Solved Paper

Time: 3 Hours Maximum Marks: 100 All questions compulsory

Question 1. Matching Words with Meanings

10 Marks

Question. Match the words in Column A with their meanings in Column B.

Answer.

No.	Word	Correct meaning
(i)	Commendation	An official award or a recommendation
(ii)	Frills	Ornamental objects of no great value
(iii)	Chronological	Arranged in order of time of occurrence
(iv)	Artifact	An object produced or shaped by human craft
(v)	Credentials	Evidence that shows people your abilities
(vi)	Tangible	Results that are easy to see
(vii)	Prior	Coming before
(viii)	Concise	Expressing much in few words
(ix)	Initializing	Starting something
(x)	Recruiters	People in charge of hiring new employees

Question 2. Sentences Using Given Words

10 Marks

Question. Make sentences using the following words.

Answer.

- (a) Innovative: The company introduced an innovative method to improve customer service.
- (b) Creativity: Creativity helps employees solve workplace problems in new and effective ways.
- (c) Ambition: Her ambition to become a successful manager motivated her to work hard.
- (d) Teamwork: Good teamwork allows an organisation to complete difficult tasks efficiently.
- (e) Dedication: His dedication to the project impressed both his colleagues and his supervisor.

Question 3(a). Active Voice to Passive Voice

10 Marks

Question. Rewrite the following sentences changing them from active voice to passive voice.

Answer.

No.	Active sentence	Passive sentence
(i)	The teacher is teaching the course.	The course is being taught by the teacher.
(ii)	Ram draws the painting.	The painting is drawn by Ram.
(iii)	Everyone likes sweets.	Sweets are liked by everyone.
(iv)	Shyam is buying a new house.	A new house is being bought by Shyam.
(v)	Have you completed your assignment?	Has your assignment been completed by you?

Question 3(b). Fill in the Blanks

10 Marks

Question. Fill in the blanks as indicated.

Answer.

- (i) Think carefully before joining your new assignment.
- (ii) Responding to job advertisements is a skill that freshers must learn.
- (iii) Please remove the broken chairs from the hall.
- (iv) She reached the meeting point well before the appointed time.
- (v) What would happen if we did not accept their invitation?
- (vi) What would happen if we missed the last train?
- (vii) If somebody walked in here with a gun, I would be very frightened.

- (viii) I am sure Satish would understand if you explained the situation to him.
 (ix) We should go through the contract carefully before signing it.
 (x) The opponents sat opposite to each other.

Question 4(a). Short Note: Essentials of Good Customer Service

10 Marks

Question. Write a short note in around 150 words.

Answer. Good customer service means giving customers prompt, polite and useful support before, during and after a purchase. A good customer service executive must listen carefully to the customer's problem and respond with patience. The language used should be clear, respectful and positive. Accuracy is also important because wrong information can reduce trust in the organisation. A customer service employee should know the product or service well and should be able to guide customers in a practical manner. Quick response, proper follow-up and willingness to take responsibility are also essential. When a complaint is received, the employee should not argue; instead, he or she should apologise where necessary and offer a suitable solution. Good customer service builds customer loyalty, improves the reputation of the organisation and creates long-term business relationships. In short, courtesy, clarity, product knowledge, patience and problem-solving ability are the essentials of good customer service.

Question 4(b). Short Note: Workplace Etiquette

10 Marks

Question. Write a short note in around 150 words.

Answer. Workplace etiquette refers to the accepted rules of polite and professional behaviour at work. It helps people work together smoothly and respectfully. Good etiquette begins with punctuality, appropriate dress and respectful communication. Employees should greet colleagues politely, listen when others speak and avoid rude or offensive language. Maintaining personal boundaries is also important. One should not disturb others unnecessarily or misuse office resources. In meetings, employees should be prepared, avoid interrupting others and keep mobile phones silent. Email etiquette is equally important: messages should be clear, brief and professional, with proper subject lines and greetings. In a multicultural workplace, employees should respect differences in language, culture, gender and background. Gossip, discrimination and aggressive behaviour should be avoided. Good workplace etiquette creates a positive environment, reduces conflict and improves teamwork. It also reflects the professionalism of both the employee and the organisation.

Question 5. Brief Curriculum Vitae

10 Marks

Question. Prepare a brief CV for a job that you wish to join. Organise your points under suitable headings.

Answer.

Curriculum Vitae

Name: Rohan Kumar

Address: 25, Green Park, Ranchi, Jharkhand

Mobile: 9876543210

Email: rohankumar@example.com

Career Objective

To work as a Marketing Executive in a reputed organisation where I can use my communication skills, creativity and knowledge of customer behaviour to support business growth.

Educational Qualifications

Examination	Board/University	Year	Percentage
B.A. Programme	IGNOU	2024	68%
Senior Secondary	CBSE	2021	72%
Secondary	CBSE	2019	75%

Professional Skills

- Good spoken and written English

- Basic computer knowledge: MS Word, Excel and PowerPoint
- Customer handling and team coordination
- Social media promotion and basic digital marketing

Professional Experience

Worked as a part-time sales assistant for six months at Bright Retail Store, Ranchi. Assisted customers, maintained product records and supported promotional activities.

Strengths

Hard-working, punctual, confident, willing to learn and able to work in a team.

Declaration

I declare that the information given above is true to the best of my knowledge.

Date: 15 June 2024

Signature: Rohan Kumar

Question 6. Job Application Letter

10 Marks

Question. Prepare a job application letter for the post of Marketing Manager in a corporate firm.

Answer.

25, Green Park
Ranchi, Jharkhand
15 June 2024

The Human Resource Manager
ABC Corporate Services Pvt. Ltd.
Ranchi, Jharkhand

Subject: Application for the post of Marketing Manager

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to apply for the post of Marketing Manager advertised by your organisation. I have completed my graduation and have relevant experience in sales promotion, customer communication and team coordination. I believe that my skills and experience make me suitable for this position.

During my previous work experience, I assisted in planning promotional activities, handling customers and preparing basic sales reports. I am confident in speaking with clients, understanding market requirements and presenting products clearly. I also have working knowledge of MS Office, email communication and social media promotion. I am punctual, responsible and capable of working under pressure.

Your organisation has a strong reputation in the corporate sector, and I would be happy to contribute to its growth. I am enclosing my CV for your kind consideration. I request you to give me an opportunity to attend an interview.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,
Rohan Kumar

Question 7. Interview Questions and Answers for Receptionist Post

10 Marks

Question. You are appearing for an interview for the position of receptionist in a reputed English Training Institute. Write ten expected questions and answers.

Answer.

Q1. Tell us about yourself.

I am a graduate with good communication skills and basic computer knowledge. I am polite, organised and interested in front-desk work.

Q2. Why do you want to work as a receptionist?

I enjoy interacting with people and helping them with correct information. This role suits my communication and organisational skills.

Q3. What are the main duties of a receptionist?

A receptionist welcomes visitors, answers calls, maintains records, manages appointments and guides people to the right department.

Q4. How will you handle an angry visitor?

I will remain calm, listen patiently, speak politely and try to solve the issue. If needed, I will inform the concerned authority.

Q5. Are you comfortable speaking in English?

Yes, I can communicate clearly in English and I am also willing to improve further through regular practice.

Q6. What computer skills do you have?

I can use MS Word, Excel, email and internet browsing. I can also maintain basic digital records.

Q7. How will you manage multiple calls and visitors at the same time?

I will prioritise urgent matters, note down details carefully and respond to each person politely without confusion.

Q8. Why do you want to work in an English Training Institute?

I believe this environment will help me use and improve my language skills while supporting students and staff.

Q9. What are your strengths?

My strengths are patience, politeness, punctuality, clear communication and willingness to learn.

Q10. Why should we select you?

You should select me because I can represent the institute professionally, handle visitors politely and maintain front-office work efficiently.

Question 8. Presentation Outline: Your Town/City/Village10 Marks

Question. Write an outline of a presentation on the topic “Your town/city/village.”

Answer.

Title: My Town - A Place of Culture, People and Progress

Slide 1: Introduction

Name of the town, its location and why it is important to me.

Slide 2: Geographical Location

State, district, nearby towns, transport facilities and basic connectivity.

Slide 3: History and Background

Brief history, old institutions, local traditions and important events.

Slide 4: People and Culture

Languages spoken, festivals celebrated, food habits and social life.

Slide 5: Education and Institutions

Schools, colleges, training centres and importance of education in the area.

Slide 6: Economy and Occupations

Main occupations such as farming, business, government service, trade or industry.

Slide 7: Important Places

Markets, temples, parks, tourist places, offices and public facilities.

Slide 8: Problems Faced by the Town

Traffic, sanitation, unemployment, water supply or lack of modern facilities.

Slide 9: Scope for Development

Better roads, digital services, skill centres, cleanliness and employment opportunities.

Slide 10: Conclusion

My town is a meaningful place because it connects tradition with future possibilities. With proper planning, it can become cleaner, better connected and more developed.

Quick Revision Points

- Passive voice: Object + helping verb + past participle + by + subject.
- Gerund: verb + ing used as a noun, e.g., joining, responding.
- Participle: verb form used as adjective, e.g., broken chair.
- CV headings: objective, education, skills, experience, strengths.
- Application letter: address, date, subject, salutation, body, closing.
- Short note: definition + features + importance + conclusion.
- Interview answer: brief, polite, confident and relevant.
- Presentation outline: title, introduction, main points and conclusion.

BEGLA-136: English at the Workplace

Term-End Examination: June 2025 | Solved Paper

Time: 3 Hours Maximum Marks: 100 All questions are compulsory.

Solved Questions

1. Match the words in Column A with their meanings in Column B

10 marks

Answer:

Word	Correct meaning
Empathy	Being sensitive to the feelings of others.
Static	Not changing for a long time.
Predictability	Degree to which something can be known in advance.
Credentials	Evidence of one's abilities and experience.
Cultural competence	Ability to understand and respect differences in the backgrounds of people.
Attributes	Qualities or characteristics.
Inadvertently	Unintentionally.
Brainstorming	A meeting to discuss several ideas and collectively choose the best one.
Roadblock	Something that obstructs progress.
Tangible	Something that can be clearly perceived or felt.

2. Make sentences using the following words

10 marks

Answer:

- (i) Dynamic: A dynamic employee quickly adjusts to new responsibilities and changing work situations.
- (ii) Adaptability: Adaptability is an important quality for success in a modern workplace.
- (iii) Dedication: Her dedication to customer service helped the company earn a good reputation.
- (iv) Overwhelming: The response to the new training programme was overwhelming.
- (v) Persuade: A good sales executive can persuade customers by explaining the benefits clearly.

3(a). Rewrite the sentences as directed

5 marks

Answer:

- (i) Passive voice: The world was taught the doctrine of non-violence by Gandhiji.
- (ii) Passive voice: This portrait was drawn by a famous artist.
- (iii) I bought a dozen oranges.
- (iv) He reads the Bhagvadgita everyday.
- (v) The Congo is the longest river in Central Africa.

3(b). Fill in the blanks as indicated

10 marks

Answer:

- (i) Think carefully before joining your new assignment.
- (ii) I think a line is missing in the letter. Please insert it.
- (iii) If you drink impure water, you will fall sick.
- (iv) This is the kind of music that I like to listen to.
- (v) He was born in a small village in Bengal.
- (vi) In spite of the bad weather, he piloted the plane skillfully.
- (vii) The applicant must include the names of two referees.
- (viii) The team of doctors conducted a survey of patients, and then gave them the vaccination.
- (ix) The recruiters were looking for someone who has considerable experience in that field.
- (x) I think you should stop worrying and concentrate on your work.

4. Short notes on any two

20 marks

(i) Establishing good relationship with customers

A good relationship with customers is built through trust, respect and prompt service. Customers expect to be heard carefully and treated politely. Therefore, an employee should listen actively, understand the problem, and respond in a helpful manner. Clear communication is very important because customers should know what solution is being offered and how long it will take. Honesty also strengthens customer confidence; if a problem cannot be solved immediately, the customer should be told the truth and given a realistic time frame. Regular follow-up, quick response to complaints and a positive attitude make customers feel valued. Employees should avoid rude language, blame-shifting and careless behaviour. A satisfied customer often returns and also recommends the organisation to others. Thus, customer relationship is not only a service activity but also a long-term business asset.

(ii) Work ethics and the workplace

Work ethics refers to the moral principles and professional values followed at the workplace. It includes honesty, punctuality, responsibility, respect for others, discipline and commitment to quality work. A person with good work ethics completes tasks on time, accepts responsibility for mistakes and does not misuse office resources. Such an employee respects colleagues, follows organisational rules and maintains confidentiality. Work ethics also means avoiding gossip, discrimination, corruption and unfair practices. In a healthy workplace, ethical behaviour creates trust between employees, customers and management. It improves teamwork, productivity and the reputation of the organisation. Employers prefer workers who are dependable and sincere because they contribute to a positive work culture. Therefore, work ethics is essential for personal growth as well as organisational success.

(iii) Preparing for an interview

Preparing for an interview helps a candidate present himself or herself confidently and professionally. The first step is to understand the job profile and collect information about the organisation. The candidate should prepare answers to common questions such as self-introduction, strengths, weaknesses, career goals and reasons for applying. It is also important to revise the resume and be ready to explain educational qualifications, skills and experience. Proper dress, punctuality and polite body language create a positive first impression. The candidate should carry necessary documents, maintain eye contact and answer questions clearly. Listening carefully is as important as speaking well. One should also prepare a few sensible questions about the role or organisation. Good preparation reduces nervousness and increases the chances of success.

5. Speech: Choosing the right career

10 marks

Answer: Good morning respected teachers and dear friends. Today I am going to speak on the topic “Choosing the right career.” A career is not only a way of earning money; it is also a major part of our identity and happiness. Therefore, we should choose it carefully. The first step is to understand our interests, abilities and values. A student who enjoys solving problems may choose engineering, research or management, while someone who likes helping people may choose teaching, healthcare or social work. We should also gather information about different courses, job opportunities and future growth. Guidance from teachers, parents and professionals can be very useful, but the final decision should match our own strengths. We should not blindly follow fashion or pressure from others. A right career gives satisfaction, confidence and purpose. So, choose wisely, work hard and keep learning. Thank you.

6. Official letter of application for the post of Analyst

10 marks

Answer:

Rajesh Kumar
Dumka, Jharkhand
Email: rajesh@example.com
Mobile: 9876543210

20 June 2025

The Human Resource Manager
ABC Global Services Pvt. Ltd.
New Delhi

Subject: Application for the post of Analyst

Sir/Madam,

I am writing to apply for the post of Analyst advertised by your organisation. I have a strong academic background, good analytical ability and a keen interest in research, data interpretation and report writing. I believe these qualities make me suitable for this position.

During my studies and training, I developed skills in collecting information, studying data carefully, identifying patterns and presenting conclusions in a clear manner. I am comfortable using computers, spreadsheets, presentations and online research tools. I also possess good communication skills, which help me explain findings to colleagues and clients. I am sincere, punctual and capable of working both independently and as part of a team.

Your organisation is known for professional excellence, and I would be grateful for an opportunity to contribute to its work. I am enclosing my curriculum vitae for your kind consideration. I would be happy to attend an interview at your convenience.

Yours faithfully,
Rajesh Kumar

7. Interview questions and planned answers for Research Officer

10 marks

Answer:

Q1. Tell us about yourself.

I am a disciplined and research-oriented person with good analytical and communication skills. I enjoy studying problems, collecting information and preparing clear reports.

Q2. Why do you want to work as a Research Officer?

I want this role because it allows me to use my interest in investigation, data analysis and meaningful documentation. I also wish to contribute to evidence-based decision-making.

Q3. What skills make you suitable for this post?

My major skills are critical thinking, careful reading, data handling, report writing, computer use, teamwork and clear communication.

Q4. How will you handle a large amount of information?

I will classify the information, verify the sources, prepare summaries and use tables or charts wherever needed to make the findings understandable.

Q5. Can you work in a global organisation?

Yes. I respect cultural differences and can communicate professionally with people from different backgrounds. I am also willing to learn global work practices.

Q6. How do you ensure accuracy in research?

I cross-check facts, use reliable sources, maintain proper records and review the final report before submission.

8. Presentation outline: Importance of good communication skills in the workplace

15 marks

Answer: Title: Importance of Good Communication Skills in the Workplace

Slide 1: Introduction

Meaning of workplace communication; why it is essential for daily office functioning.

Slide 2: Clear exchange of information

Good communication helps employees understand instructions, deadlines, responsibilities and expectations.

Slide 3: Teamwork and cooperation

Teams work better when members listen, share ideas and respect one another's views.

Slide 4: Customer satisfaction

Polite and clear communication helps in handling customer queries, complaints and feedback effectively.

Slide 5: Conflict reduction

Many workplace conflicts arise from misunderstanding. Good communication reduces confusion and builds trust.

Slide 6: Professional growth

Employees with good speaking, writing and presentation skills are more confident and often get better opportunities.

Slide 7: Written communication

Emails, reports, notices and messages should be concise, correct and polite.

Slide 8: Non-verbal communication

Body language, eye contact, posture and facial expressions should support the spoken message.

Slide 9: Conclusion

Good communication improves productivity, relationships, leadership and organisational success.

Quick Revision: BEGLA-136 Writing Checklist

- Sentence making: Use the word naturally and show its meaning through context.
- Passive voice: Object + suitable form of be + past participle + by + subject.
- Short note: Definition + main points + example/use + conclusion.
- Speech: Greeting + topic introduction + 3-4 clear points + closing thanks.

- Application letter: Sender address, date, receiver address, subject, salutation, suitability, request for interview, closing.
- Interview answer: Keep answers honest, positive, specific and connected with the job.
- Presentation outline: Title, introduction, main slides in logical order, conclusion.