Reading notes. Alternating pale-blue and white bands apply to complete profile-year groups. An unstarred first date is the publisher's received/submitted date, and the bracketed duration is publisher turnaround to online publication. A starred date means the journal's received date was unavailable, so the first arXiv date is used; its starred bracket is only a preprint-to-publication interval, not publisher turnaround. Month-only publication dates produce approximate month durations. A dash means that the corresponding date or arXiv record was not identified. Profile years and author order follow the displayed Google Scholar record; therefore a profile year can differ from the later journal publication year.
